Address format

Rules of drafting of a standardized address:

- Information of the address must be ordered: name or corporate name with the postal code and locality of the recipient.
- The national address must contain 6 lines to the maximum and 7 for the international address. The white lines must be removed.
- Each line of address must comprise 38 characters to the maximum (spaces included). If necessary, it is advisable to shorten its elements.
- No punctuation (.,- ;etc.), underlining, italics starting from the line 4 "N° and wording of the way"
- Lines 4, 5 and 6 written in capital letters (the whole address in capital letters is strongly advised). The lines of address are aligned on the left for the case of the addresses made out in Latin characters and are aligned on the right for the Arab addresses;
- The exact postal code of the office to which the addressee's address is attached must be indicated in line 6, before the locality of destination.
